

daily GOOD

If I had an hour to solve a problem and my life depended on the solution, I would spend the first 55 minutes determining the proper question to ask, for once I know the proper question, I could solve the problem in less than five minutes. --Albert Einstein

The Art of Powerful Questions

When was the last time you sat through a meeting and said to yourself, "This is a complete waste of time!"? Was it yesterday, or even just a few hours ago? Why did that gathering feel so tedious? Perhaps itâ€™s because the leaders posed the wrong questions at the start of the session. Or, worse yet, maybe they didnâ€™t ask any engaging questions, and as a result, the meeting consisted of boring reports-outs or other forms of one-way communication that failed to engage peopleâ€™s interest or curiosity. Juanita Brown, founder of the global World Cafe movement and someone who engaged in grassroots activism with Cesar Chavez, is co-author of an insightful article on crafting powerful questions. Snippets from 'The Art of Powerful Questions: Catalyzing Insight, Innovation, and Action', and a link to the full article, can be found here.

Be The Change:

Ask a powerful question, right here and right now.