Science is not only compatible with spirituality; it is a profound source of spirituality. --Carl Sagan

Allan Snyder seems to be able to turn on a person's inner "Rain Man", and then turn it off again, with the flick of a switch. All it takes is a strange set of electrodes; and a radical new theory of autism, genius and the human brain. He asked a NY Times columnist to draw a picture of a cat four times, each time with different doses of these magnetic impulses. The results were stunning. Check them out online:

Be The Change:

Draw a picture of a cat. Think a few positive thoughts and try drawing the same picture again.
