

daily GOOD

Never does nature say one thing and wisdom another. --Juvenal

Strangest Sights on Earth

Ever since Google first let people scour the planet from the comfort of their computers through the Google Earth software program, fans have been on a virtual scavenger hunt from the North Pole to the South Pole looking for anything interesting, unusual, or unexplained. From shipwrecks to crop circles, from ads big enough to be read from space to a giant pink bunny nearly the size of a football field, PC World has collected a few of the odd and spectacular sights.

Be The Change:

Have some fun exploring the Earth.