

daily GOOD

The essence of living is to continually dissolve into the space and time in which we happen to be. Therefore, we should face reality instead of fooling ourselves in daydreams. --Tsai Chih

In June 2002 the UN predicted that AIDS will kill 70 million people in the next 20 years, mostly in poor countries, unless more is done to fight the disease. About 40 million people are now infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS, and 20 million have died of it since it was discovered in 1981.

Be The Change:

Support a humanitarian cause that creates better lives for people around the world.