

daily GOOD

The servant-leader is servant first... It begins with the natural feeling that one wants to serve, to serve first. Then conscious choice brings one to aspire to lead. That person is sharply different from one who is leader first.

--Robert Greenleaf

7 Principles of Meaningful Relationships for Servant Leaders

"A company is a collection of people working toward a shared goal that they couldn't otherwise do on their own. In essence, the foundation of work is relationships.

However, often when we are stuck, especially in work, it is because we interact with others transactionally instead of engaging with them, human to human. And when we are unhappy at work, we might blame it on someone else but the root of the discontent is often within us." In the following piece, Jeff Riddle shares seven principles for building meaningful connections.

Be The Change:

For more inspiration, check out 'The 10 Gifts of Servant Leaders.'