Since you get more joy out of giving joy to others, you should put a good deal of thought into the happiness that you are able to give. --Eleanor Roosevelt

A Child Entrepreneur Gives Back

In the home of eighth-grader Jason O'Neill, teddy bears are everywhere. They're white, black or brown. Some have bow ties and some have ribbons. They sit on chairs, tables, counter tops and the floor. Thanks to O'Neill, a young entrepreneur who started his own company at age 9, they're all going to sick children for Christmas.

Be The Change:

Share Jason's story with a child you know, and help him or her explore the joy of giving in some small way this year.
